Ohio Marijuana Card Opens Doctors Office in Westlake

Marijuana Doctors Office Sees Expansion Ahead of Dispensaries Opening

Cleveland, OH (September 18, 2018) — Ohio Marijuana Card continues to grow throughout Ohio, spreading from Cleveland’s east side, where their Mayfield location can be found, to the west side, with their new location in Westlake.

“As dispensaries near opening, interest in medical marijuana has reached a proverbial fever pitch,” Ohio Marijuana Card President Connor Shore stated. “In an effort to meet the demand, we have decided to open several new locations, starting with our Westlake location.”

Medical marijuana became legal in Ohio in September 2016, and it has taken several years of jumping through many financial, legal and bureaucratic hurdles, but the industry is slowly coming together. Several cultivators are already growing marijuana, and some dispensaries are planning to open their doors by the end of the year, with more to follow throughout 2019.

“Every new program like this struggles to land on its feet,” Ohio Marijuana Card Marketing and Business Relations Director Randy Shaffer said. “But we’ve been doing everything in our power to sign up patients and get them their medical marijuana recommendation so they are ready right on day one.”

In order to enter a dispensary and buy product, patients must first have their medical marijuana card. To obtain a card, patients need to be suffering from one of the 21 qualifying medical conditions, including chronic pain, IBD, cancer, HIV and PTSD. From there, a patient must set an appointment with a medical marijuana doctor. These doctors have been certified by the state to recommend marijuana to patients in Ohio. They look over the patient's medical records, perform a brief examination and write their recommendation. Afterward, this recommendation is sent to the Ohio Board of Pharmacy, who issues the official card to patients after they pay an annual fee.

Ohio Marijuana Card simplifies this process, providing a one-stop shop for patients hoping to receive their medical marijuana card without all the hassle. Their Cleveland West doctor is currently accepting new patients and booking fast.

“With about 10 dispensaries opening in the greater Cleveland area alone,” Shore added, “there is going to be a high demand for medical marijuana cards. We felt it was paramount to open a new west side office so that patients would be able to get their marijuana cards quickly, and without breaking the bank.”

Ohio Marijuana Card has offices all across the state, in every major city. They offer easy monthly or subscription installment plans depending on the patient’s budget, as well as discounts for veterans and one-time payments. They even provide a map to medical marijuana dispensary locations throughout Cleveland.

“We’ve found that many Ohioans are suffering and need access to dispensaries as soon as possible,” Shore stated. “Some patients are hurting and looking for alternatives to traditional medicines and dangerous opioids. Marijuana is that alternative.”
